Press Release

Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar College, University of Delhi signed MOU with Pamulang University, Indonesia

Delhi, India, November 12, 2024: In a historic step towards strengthening academic and cultural collaboration, Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar College, University of Delhi, held its first official meeting with Pamulang University, Indonesia, following the recent signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU). The event, held virtually from 12:00 to 1:00 PM IST, brought together distinguished representatives from both institutions, setting the stage for a promising partnership in academic exchange, student development, and cultural understanding.

The meeting opened with introductory remarks and a warm welcome from Prof. Pankaj Tyagi, who greeted all guests and emphasized the importance of this partnership. Prof. Tyagi's words underscored the mutual commitment of both universities to foster meaningful academic interactions and broaden horizons for students and faculty alike. The session was moderated by Dr. Kholil Azis of University of Pamulang, who steered the proceedings with insightful introductions, allowing each speaker to share their vision and expectations for the collaboration.

Following the welcome, Prof. Sada Nand Prasad, Principal of Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar College, addressed the assembly. Prof. Prasad highlighted the college's commitment to providing quality education and fostering global engagement opportunities for students. He expressed optimism about the MOU's potential to encourage knowledge-sharing and capacity-building initiatives that would benefit both institutions and their student bodies.

The meeting continued with valuable insights from several other key speakers. Dr. M. Wildan, Rector for Student Affairs at Pamulang University, presented his vision for the MOU, emphasizing the anticipated benefits for student growth and the planned exchange programs. Dr. Wildan's address underscored the alignment of the universities' objectives to cultivate globally aware and socially responsible students. Following this, Prof. Bishnu Mohan Dash, Convener of the Academic Development Society for Students at Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar College, outlined potential initiatives and programs that will drive this partnership forward. He emphasized future-focused academic opportunities, including student and faculty exchange, collaborative research, and joint seminars.

Representing Pamulang University's Cooperation Institution, Mr. Bobi Agustian spoke on the strategic potential of this MOU, which aims to bridge academic expertise between India and Indonesia. Prof. Kholil Azis, Head of the International Cooperation Division at Pamulang University, also addressed the gathering, sharing plans for extensive cooperation between the institutions.

Additional insights were shared by Dr. Guntarto Widodo from Pamulang University's International Cooperation Subdivision. He highlighted how the collaboration aligns with Pamulang University's mission to foster academic linkages beyond national boundaries, preparing students for the evolving demands of the global workforce. Mr. Kumar Satyam moderated the Programme.

In summary, this inaugural meeting marked an important milestone in Indo-Indonesian academic cooperation. Both Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar College and Pamulang University are eager to implement various student-focused programs that will pave the way for cross-cultural learning, knowledge exchange, and skill development. This collaboration signifies a shared commitment to nurturing globally competent individuals ready to tackle challenges in an interconnected world. Other senior faculty members including Prof Bijender Kumar, Prof Sujit Kumar, Prof. Deepali Jain, Prof Mamta, Prof Poonam Mittal, Prof Navin Kumar, Dr Rakesh Sahani, Dr Mohnish Kumar, Dr Kislay Kumar Singh and Dr Mitu Dash were present during the first collaborative meeting of MOU between Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar College (DU) and University of Pamulang, Indonesia.
